Candida Royale's Stud Hunters

Adam & Eve

Review by Don Houston

Cast: Ava Vincent, Brian Bishop, Leila Swan, Johnny Dannon, Tara Indiana, Alexandra Silk, Grego

Non-sex by Candida Royale, Michele Capozzi, Neville Chambers, A. Josephine Buio, and her "studs"

Length: 83.5 minutes

Release Date: 9/03

DVD: "The extras were very well done, and taken as a whole, a lot better than average-adding plenty of value to the package."

Body of Review: Candida Royale, a porn star turned director, makes movies for adult women and couples. Contrast this with the majority of "adult" movies which are essentially one dimensional in nature. Some women, and men, also appreciate movies that are not the latest gonzo splodge-fest and aim for the mind (commonly known as the largest sexual organ by those who know something about psychology and physiology). In Candida's 15th movie, Stud Hunters: A Hard Man Is Good To Find she once again shows a movie made from the woman's point of view.

The movie is a comedy that takes a light-hearted look at a casting call for men, held by a female porn director, "Carla Divine", in search of new talent. Those familiar with porn know that there are very few men who work as performers in porno's, and women are very vocal about this being a big turnoff for them. As always, Candida turns the tables on the conventions of porn, and provides something a bit different for audiences. The plot is minimal, the laughs are frequent, and the end result is not what you'd expect from a "porno".

Summary: I'm going to rate this as Recommended . . . I'd be willing to admit that if I were to have to pick a movie to watch with a gal, I'd be picking one of Candida's releases. . . As a total package, this was a very solid release and the commentary alone was worth a rental. Good job!
